I haven't seen that before, can you supply your connection config for jolokia. Also what version of Artemis are you using?

I have spoken to hawtIO dev and he pointed me at https://developer.mozilla.org/en-US/docs/Web/Security/Secure_Contexts

So I am guessing the URL you are using is causing this to happen, saying that localhost/127.0.0.1 should work, anything else you need to configure https. Maybe you are using a different hostname or localhost isnt mapped correctly?

Hello,

I'm trying the new Artemis Console.
Installing it with jetty-home-12.0.14 and apache-artemis-console-1.0.0 was fine. I followed the details from <https://activemq.apache.org/components/artemis-console/documentation/>
I only needed to tell jetty to use port 8162, as 8080 and 8161 were already in use.
The connection to the broker could be added in the gui.
When the connection is used with a wrong username/password, the error message "Incorrect username or password" appears as expected.

But with the right username/password, nothing visibly happens, and the following error appears in the webbrowser console.

Uncaught (in promise) TypeError: window.crypto.subtle is undefined

Ep crypto.ts:6

b d0339a10.chunk.js:1.238

This happens for Firefox and Edge to rule out specific browser behavior.

Does this look familiar to anyone? Any hints?

thx!
Erwin
